Few datacenters have been around as long as we have. Even fewer can claim our track record of excellence.

Personal relationships matter to us.

At NYI, we consider ourselves an extension of our clients' teams. We offer first-class technical expertise so the customer can focus on doing what they do best.

- Avoid the red tape and bureaucracy typical of larger data center providers
- We ensure the job is done quickly and seamlessly
- Dedicated team works closely with every customer to solve real issues
- Improve performance, productivity and increase reliability

We're not that big – and we like it that way.

While we have the same capabilities as the global providers, we are something they can never be: local. NYI is known throughout the region because this is our home. Our focused approach gives us an unmatched expertise of New York infrastructure, which is why we are so good at what we do.

- We proudly support the New York/New Jersey tech community
- Active participation in numerous tri-state user groups such as ISOC, NY PHP, OWASP, New York Technology Council, New Jersey Technology Council, and NYCBUG
- Big supporter of the open source community: non-profits such as the FreeBSD Foundation, rely on NYI
