

Meet RapidScale

Flexible enough for the SMB and powerful enough for the enterprise, RapidScale is a global managed cloud services provider helping organizations increase IT productivity, improve security, and empower remote workforces. Some organizations partner with RapidScale to manage portions of their IT, while others offload it all. Through our global network of data centers and our 24/7/365 high-touch support team, we obsess over creating an exceptional IT experience through a human approach to managed cloud.

A Cox Business Company

Since 2010 RapidScale has been building an industry-leading cloud company, with dual headquarters in Irvine, CA and Raleigh, NC. RapidScale was acquired by Cox Business, the commercial division of Cox Communications, in August 2018. The new strengthened connected cloud platform delivers a wide range of technology solutions to help businesses improve productivity, improve security, and reduce IT expenditures.

Global Cloud Platform

We offer a global platform architecture, robust application performance and a customized cloud solution suite in managed and hybrid managed services. We pride ourselves on working with industry-leading platform partners.

Cloud Migrations

A common barrier to moving workloads to the cloud are the “unknowns” around the actual migration – but this is where RapidScale sets itself apart. We know that each migration is different and deliver a seamless implementation via our team of expert project managers, cloud engineers and cloud architects.

Our team can work with you to complete an IT assessment to continue to build your custom cloud roadmap and strategy.

RapidScale’s team can handle the entire solution migration for you as part of our fully managed offerings or assist in this process as needed.

Our professional services and migration capabilities are unique in the cloud marketplace.
